

Le Anh Tuan (M'19–SM'19) graduated with his B. Eng. and M. Eng. in Mechanical Engineering and Marine Machinery from Vietnam Maritime University in 2003 and 2007, respectively. He received his Ph.D. degree in Mechanical Engineering from Kyung Hee University, South Korea in 2012. He was a Research Fellow at Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, a Visiting Scholar at the University of Birmingham, UK, and an Endeavor Research Fellow at the University of Technology Sydney, Australia. He has been a Contract Research Professor at the Center of Wind Energy System, Kunsan National University, Korea since 2016. He is currently an Associate Professor in the Automotive Engineering Department of Vietnam Maritime University. His interests include nonlinear robust adaptive control, fractional-order control, dynamics, vibration, and control of industrial machines.