

Hui Wang received her B.Sc. degree in 2008 from Tianjin University of Technology and Education, and received her Ph.D. degree in 2016 from Harbin Engineering University. Currently, she works in the Electronics and Information School of Jiangsu University of Science and Technology. Her main research interests are marine radar image processing, marine integrated hydrological remote sensing and information forecasting technology.